

Put Me In, Coach

Keys to Building and Sustaining a Winning Team

Course Overview

Put Me In, Coach introduces five traits applied by well-known and respected sports coaches that provide a blueprint for leadership success.

Put Me In, Coach is a unique training experience designed to give participants a first hand look at themselves personally and professionally. In addition, it provides tools for ensuring the long-term success of their team, department and organization.

After attending Put Me In, Coach, participants will be better prepared to:

-  1. Articulate their preferred leadership and decision-making styles to effectively manage the team towards greater success
-  2. Leverage knowledge of their coaching and decision-making preferences to set goals, develop employees, communicate effectively and manage conflict
-  3. Create a strategy/plan for maximizing skills within the team
-  4. Incorporate five Put Me In, Coach leadership traits into their day-to-day management of employees

The course is broken up into four specific topics:

1 Understanding Self
(includes personality assessment)

2 Articulate a Clear Vision for Success
(experimental visioning activity)

3 Assess, Manage and Develop Your Talent
(interactive selection exercise and application of a coaching model)

4 Plan for Long-Term Success
(tips for engaging and sustaining team)

Participants will learn through different discovery methods how to be an effective coach and gain skills in decision making, problem solving, day-to-day management and leadership.

Intact teams, new managers and senior leaders will benefit from this interactive experience.

 Ask Learning Curve Consultants® about the numerous customization options made available to clients.

